Intro

A company keeps encrypted keys in a hardware security module (HSM) The requirement is to design a solution for key management migration to AWS. Rotation of keys should be supported, as per the usage of customer supplied keys. In order to ensure compliance with these requirements, what is required ?

An automobile company's product app data is saved in a MySQL database Instance hosted by Amazon RDS. The production team has noticed a performance delay in the application and want to divide write and read traffic Solution Architect is required to optimize the application performance. What recommendation should be made?

An e-tourism company is developing an app that will write to and read from a Dynamode database. The application has predictable traffic which peaks during business hours on weekdays and decreases during night and on weekend. What should the solution architect do to create a solution that is both cost efficient and capable of handling the demand?

A travel company has an app which is rarely used. At the beginning of each month there is a spike in a minor spike in the beginning of each week and has unpredictable spice throughout the week. The program is made up of MySQL database and a web server located on prem. The company wants to migrate the app to AWS Cloud and need to choose an affordable database which minimizes database adjustments Which of the following will meet the requirement
